Crofter Settlements a Fallure.
The Crofter settlements in the Canadian Northwest-have been condemned as a complete fallure by the government, and all further efforts in titls direction will be abandoned. Sir Geo. Trevelyan, secretary for Settlend in the House of Commons, has spoken most strongly of the failure of the scheme. He said it it would be not the scheme. He said to the work of the scheme. He said to the work of the scheme that the coloniant of the scheme that the coloniant of the settlements at Saltconts and Killarney and declared that the people sent out were not naturally the clauses called emigrants. SIDEW, ALKS AND LIGHTS

"Almost a year-ago we had an editorial on this very subject and we are gratified to find that in some measure our suggeson this very subject and we are gratized to find that in some measurice of succession to find that in some measurice of succession to find that in some measurice of succession to find the time of the first that it is the conflicts of former years, melted to force to follow. We referred in our local columns a few weeks ago to the narrouncing the electric like to our town, and we rejuct the first that is talked of, of introducing the electric like to our town, and we rejuct the present date the Behring Sea arbitration. The two English and the succession we refer to the principle and the succession we refer to under the principle of binding the matter of sidewalks, which was mooted carly in the sprinc. A scheme most context of the first the principal thorough three to the theory of the first that the principal thorough three to the the principal thorough three to the three times to the the harrest is past and the succession we refer the three times to make and the first three th aspecially, the streets are almost impassable without the much incure size.

It will cause much disappointment to many this fall if the promised sidewalks, do not appear. Every town almost, along the main line, can boatrof. side walks, which are certainly a great acquisity walks, which are certainly a great acquisity. walks, which are certainly a freat action, flow, But Eikhern is apparently not in it. Our faith in the enterprise of the Eikhern people somewhat inclines us to the hope that even yet we may see both sidewalks and electric light at an early date.

AGRICULTURAL FAIRS.

We wish, again, to call the attention of our readers to the fact that the County of Dennis Agricultural Fair will be held in Virden next Thursday and Friday, Oct. 5 and 6. Every one would be benefited by and 0. Every one would be benefited by spending a day at these annual gasherings (17 ou see a success in your own line of business you should to abd exchange focus with others of your kind.

To farmers especially are fairs important. There is certain to be something of great interest and benefit to you, and even if you have nothing definite in view go anyway and see what your neighbors are doing. If you want a new infusion of blood in your sicks there is no better piace, of find it. Even though you may hot get a blood in your sixes there is no wester pase to find it. Even though you may not get a "prize there is no better way of letting others see what kind of, animals you are raising and when you want-to-sell rou-will find a more ready purchaser. Practi-cal rise know a good thing when they see it. If you see anything good in fruit and vegetables, talk with the producer if pos regicables, talk with the producer it pos-sable, find out as much about it as you can-and test it next year yourself. Follow the same course lit other departments. Look carefally over-the imported breads of stock, the farm implements, etc., and you will be able to decide better what will suf-you on your farm. Take something with you to exhibit and you will have the axis. you to exhibit and you will have the astis-faction of knowing that you are helping along something for the good of partself and others.

THE GRAIN STANDARDS

The GRAIN STANDARDS

The "Patrons' Advocate" in an article on "San the Press Assist the Farmer," gives two very good advice to the latter. It itim, and we think rightly, that thershould make themselves familiar with the relight rates from his mariet to terminal points, the price of grain at these and other places, the causes of fuetuation in prices, and the grades. The "Advocate" gross on to say ! "We presume every farmer takes his local paper, and if he don't he ought to. The facilities the editor peases through his exchange with the daffier, are limmacureably superior to the Ismers, and when local, market quotations are given prices at terminal, ocean, and other competitive points could also be quoted. With the knowledge he has thus obtained the farmer is placed off a nearer equality with the Sper."

The present tystem of grading and distributing the shiples is dealf with and the farmer appealed to ot make himself familiar with the grader, so that he may be able to judge for himself, we think the Advocate is unnecessarily severe on the local buyers. They are acting under instructions which they must follow. When wheat is brought to market the buyer most follow his instructions, and although it may be No. 1 in quality must grade it No. 2. Who gains by must grated it No. 2. Who gains by the deal) Certainly not the local bayer. We believe that Farmers Traditutes should each year obtain samples of the grades, so that the farmers could become better judges of good wheel. At least something better than the carelessness at present in vogue is much needed.
